STRIKE LEADERS TRIAL BEGINS

Opening Statement Is Made in the Conspiracy Case.

The jury in the riot trial had not been discharged ten minutes yesterday before Attorney Kinney was making the opening statement for the prosecution in the case of the Territory of Hawaii against the five leaders in the higher wage agitation, F. Makino, Y. Soga, M. Negoro, Y. Tasaka, and K. Kawamura. The five defendants are charged with conspiring to obstruct the operation of five sugar plantations, Honolulu, Kahuku, Oahu, Ewa, and Waialua, and by "certain indirect, sinister and unlawful measures and means, to wit—by intimidating and threatening violence against, and by instigating and inciting others to intimidate and threaten violence against, and inciting and instigating assaults and batteries upon all Japanese in the City and County of Honolulu aforesaid, then and there being who opposed or should oppose an immediate demand being made by the Japanese laborers upon said sugar plantations for an increase in wages." In his opening statement, Mr. Kinney read the charge against the five defendants, and then proceeded with a summary of the circumstances that led to the making of the charge against the men. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Kinney's statement, Attorney Lightfoot for the defense made a motion that the defendants be discharged on the ground that even if the charge were proven against them it would not constitute a sufficient ground for conviction. The motion was promptly denied by Judge De Bolt.

The first witness will be called by the prosecution tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, to which hour adjournment was taken yesterday morning upon the conclusion of the preliminary proceedings. Half-past eight will be the regular hour for the convening of court. A brief recess will be taken at 9:45 and adjournment for the day at 12:30.

Exceptions Overruled.

A decision was handed down by the Supreme Court yesterday overruling the exceptions in the case of Solomon Kauhane, Kaepaka Kauhane, Waimahui Kauhane and K. Kauhane, minors, by their guardian Henry Smith, and Kaepaka Baker against William Laa. The case was an action for money received from the rentals of land, alleged to have been collected by the defendant. The verdict was for the plaintiffs for $350 and interest, a number of exceptions having been brought by the defendant Laa.

In the course of the decision the Supreme Court says:

"The land which yielded the rents in controversy was awarded by patent to one Nakaikuana, also called in the evidence Kaikuana. The patentee died about 1853, leaving surviving him a brother, Hao, and no issue. Hao in turn left surviving him Pelani, his widow, and three children, Solomon Kauhane, Hauli, also called Hauli Opio, and Laa the defendant. In 1880 Solomon Kauhane conveyed all of his interest in the land to Pelani. Hauli Opio died in 1885. Subsequently Pelani executed a deed of all of her interest to Kaikuana. The lease under which the rents in question accrued was executed by Pelani while she held the title to a portion of the land. The minor plaintiffs are the children, and Kaepaka Baker the widow, of Solomon Kauhane. The foregoing facts are practically undisputed on the evidence. On the issue whether Hauli Opio died before or after reaching the age of majority the evidence is conflicting, but there is clearly sufficient evidence to justify the finding, which was evidently made by the jury, that he was of age, in which event his interest passed to his mother Pelani as his sole heir. The jury could also have well found that Kaikuana did not leave a widow and that his parents died before him. Upon the questions whether Kaikuana, the patentee, had another brother, Hauli, whether Hauli died before or after the patentee, and whether he was ever married, the evidence is in a confused and, to our minds, somewhat unsatisfactory state. The testimony on this point came from witnesses whose recollection, apparently, was vague and uncertain or who were not adhering strictly to the truth in all that they said. The state of the evidence, however, was such as to support the finding, which the verdict shows must have been made by the jury, either that Hauli Sr. was not the brother of Kaikuana, or if he was, that he died before the patentee and left no issue or that he was never married, in which latter event it would be immaterial whether he died before or after Kaikuana. On any of these theories the plaintiffs would be entitled to recover two-thirds of all of the rents collected by the defendant during the period in controversy, which is what the jury awarded."

WILL CONSIDER PHYSICIANS.

The trustees of the Queen's Hospital will meet on Friday to decide what steps shall be taken regarding the appointment of a staff of house physicians and surgeons for the institution.

OVER THIRTY-FIVE YEARS.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and infantile cholera. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-six years maintained that record. Nine Chemists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

Honolulu Temple, No. 1. Pythian Sisters, will meet in K. of P. hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening.
